PRINTED BY GEORGE SMITH, ST. MARTIN'S LANE

1815

IN submitting this collection of British Portraits, it may not be thought improper to make some preliminary observations respecting the order of arrangement, &c.

As this Catalogue embraces almost all the rare articles mentioned in Granger's Biographical History of England, it was conceived a very desirable mode of arrangement to keep the prints in the order of that work, that any Nobleman or Gentleman desirous of completing that interesting series, could at once ascertain whether the print he desired was in this collection: that order, with very trivial alterations, has therefore been adhered to.

Another observation is necessary to be made—there are no prints specified unless of one guinea value, as it would be almost endless to describe accurately the whole collection; therefore it was deemed more interesting to give a faithful description of the rare prints herein specified, which is invariably done, with occasional remarks, where they differ from those described by Mr. Granger.

Those Prints, which may be considered unique, or nearly so, are more detailed in their description than those, whose beauty of impression (more than rarity,) procures them a place in this catalogue; and when it is considered the time, expence and judgement that was united in forming this splendid assemblage, (which was the study of a gentleman of refined taste for many years) it will readily be allowed by all those conversant in the pursuit, that it contains more rare prints than any collection offered for sale.

The value depends so much on the impression, that the same print may vary from one to twenty guineas. S. W. therefore begs to inform those who may be resident from London, that he will willingly return the money for Portraits not approved of, if ordered without previous inspection.

S. W. has likewise for sale a most extensive collection of Prints of all the Schools, from the commencement of the Graphic Art to the present time, comprising the finest of the Italian, German, Dutch and Flemish Masters, of the first quality.

thrice Lord Mayor of London, &c. &c.... | | | |

This extraordinary print which may be considered a great curiosity is unfortunately cut into separate pieces, all the arms being detached, it is kept in that state in case another impression should occur, which however has not, and having escaped the research of all the industrious collectors from the commencement of the pursuit to the present time, may with great propriety be deemed unique.

47. A FAC-SIMILE Drawing of Sir Ralph Blackwell.

CLASS IV.

150. ARCHBISHOP PARKER; inscribed,
"Mudus Transit," &c. Æt. 69. 1572.

R. Berg. (Hogenberg) small, very neatly engraved.

This most rare print is dated one year prior to the impression cited by Mr. Granger; the illumination mentioned by him at Cambridge, is an impression of the print, colored in the ancient manner, with opaque or body colours. As the plate was most probably engraved for the Archbishop, (who was a great promoter of the arts,) it may account for its extreme rarity.
